

A1: My Favorite Application

It's YouTube!

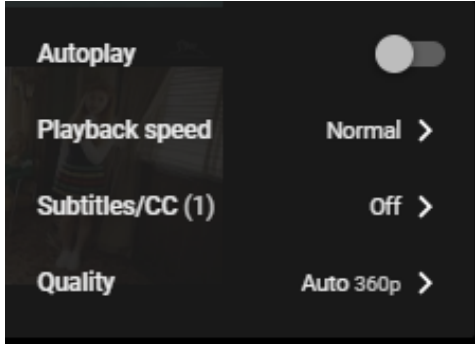

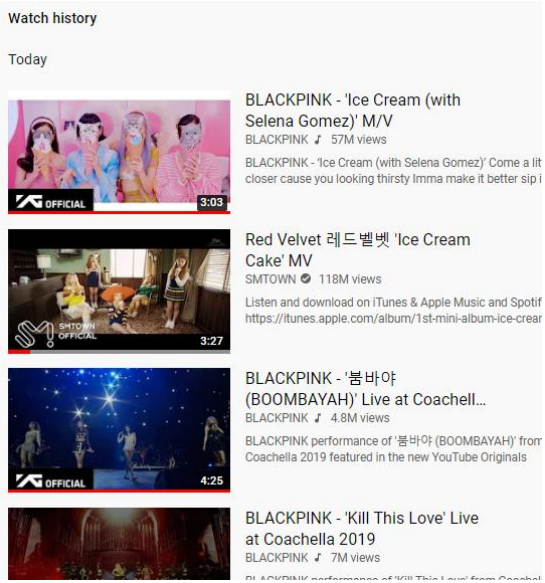

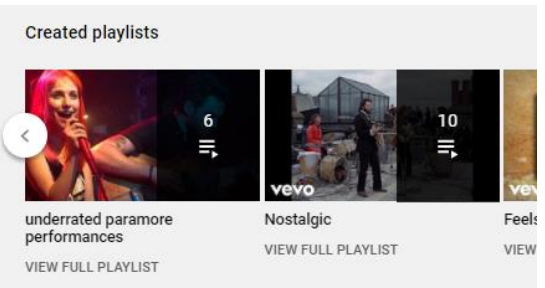

Youtube is a very powerful platform. Basically, anyone who has to say can be heard or seen. Not only that but it is place where everyone can be appreciated for their creativity, talent, personality, knowledge and basically anything and have a community that will be in the same interest as you do. No matter how weird it is. It might be terrifying at times (I mean every social media has its dark side), youtube is dedicated to supporting people and building communities. People come for the content and there are thousands that are being released every day that you'll never get bored.

Another thing is that how easy it is to access. You just need to type in youtube.com in web or download the app on your mobile phone. Which ever device you are using, it is very comfortable to use. Whether you have an account or not, videos would still be accessible. Although commenting would be limited for those who has an account.

Also the contents, the recommendations I get are related to the things that I have already watched that's why it is easy to get insight on something you are interested about. There are a lot of features especially to someone who would use it to be a content creator, but for me as just a viewer, still the features are very helpful and efficient.

FEATURES THAT STOOD OUT FOR ME

	This is probably the most helpful feature of all. It has auto play, playback speed, subtitles, and quality. I usually watch foreign videos that I do not know the language of, so subtitles are helpful. Playback speed as well because sometimes videos can be lengthy, and it helps me control the pace of the video so that it would take up less time. Video settings are great and very customizable that is very easy to use.
	Another thing is that you have the watch history in which you can pick up where you left off or would like to watch a video on some other time, by just clicking a video, you are immediately back to where you were. Watch history also is great because sometimes you get lost in auto plays or from clicking videos one after the other without being able to check the title for example. Therefore, it is very easy to review the videos that you have watched for an added information that is.
	You can also create endless playlists of your favorite videos (from likes) or just anything that you feel on watching. I find this feature helpful because sometimes I feel like some videos are rare to be found and so I compile them before I even forget about them. You can also have a playlist of “watch later” wherein you can add videos that you would like to watch later or when you have the time.

Up next AUTOPLAY ☐

Bloody Mary & Her Sister, Queen Elizabeth I | Two Sisters | Absolute History
Absolute History ✓
324K views • 3 months ago
43:29

The Witch Trials That Shook Britain EP1 | Absolute History
Absolute History ✓
185K views • 10 months ago
44:41

Unbelievable Ways The Victorians Caused Their Own... | Absolute History
Absolute History ✓
2.4M views • 1 year ago
58:59

Deadly Beauty Devices The Edwardians Invented | Absolute History
Absolute History ✓
906K views • 1 year ago
10:26

The Tudor Scandals Of Sex And Syphilis | Absolute History
Absolute History ✓
1.4M views • 1 year ago
12:11

How The Staircase Made The Victorians Suffer | Absolute History
Absolute History ✓

Lastly are just how the videos are lined up endlessly, and this are not just random videos that youtube offers you to watch, but this are somehow related to the videos you have been watching. It can either be videos from other channel with the same topic, or it can be other videos from that channel, or even sometimes there are recommended videos that are truly unpredictable however I am still happy that I got to watch it.